TERM 2, WEEK 7

Friday 9th June, 2017

Dear Parents,

Just a reminder that July Vacation Care booking will be closing very soon and any bookings after Friday 16th June will incur a $10 late fee. As we are close approaching the holidays, incursions dates are filling up and are unfortunately full for Enistein Science, Arcade Game and Laser Tag. I would like to congratulate Sophie Del Popolo for her very talented performance last week at the National Gymnastics Championship. Her training, hard work and dedication has shine through and certainly paid off. Everyone at Funtastic Gems wishes Sophie many countless achievements in the future , perhaps one day we will certainly see her at the Olympics. During Week 8 I will be handing out notes regarding authorization for medical and ambulance for your child. It is a requirement for all parents to sign the form as it is compulsory component in case your child is required any assistance.

Thanks,

Diana

Star of the week

Chloe Luu

Chloe passionately participates in the activities and tries her best all the time. She never forgets pack-up after activities. Also she helps other children who are in need of help during the activities.

Julie's Recap of the week

On Monday, Julie's group made Cyclops Origami. Julie displayed the screen to show the children how to make it. Some children followed the instruction well but some kindergarten children found it difficult to do Origami by themselves. Julie and two Y6 girls assisted those in need of help. The children liked their Cyclops a lot and they played with it after the activity. Nicole's activity was Face Painting. The activity was very enjoyable especially with the choices the children came up with. Overall the face painting was fun and the children had a great time. On Tuesday, all the children participated in the sports incursion outside. On Wednesday, Julie's group did a craft activity of making Caterpillars with pompoms. K to Y1 children were encouraged to participate in this activity because it was fun and easy. They were to make a green leaf out of felt and make a caterpillar with little pompoms. The children enjoyed the activity a lot. Nicole's activity consisted in the making of a Room Name Banner. Every child was to design their own room name sign. They were very artistic on how they wanted it designed. On Thursday, Julie's group did Engineering Challenges. The children were separated into three groups and they were to build anything 3D such as a tower, a house or animals using paddle pop sticks, pegs and clips. They found this activity was bit challenging but they worked together. The children showed the activity. Nicole's group made given certain pokemon characters to Everyone in the group was telling characters and the certain abilities fun doing this activity. On Friday, making donuts. Julie made the dough different shapes with the dough. They wait to taste it. Nicole had her Jiu Jitsu learned how to defend themselves constantly shared their ideas and creativity and imagination throughout Pokemon Balls. The children were colour in for their pokeballs. Nicole all about the pokemon they have. The children had so much Julie's group did a cooking activity of in advance and the children made enjoyed the activity a lot and couldn't class with about 20 children. They and everyone did a great job.
